

CAMPAIGN HAS ALREADY BEGUN

Milwaukee Is The Headquarters City For The Senatorial Candidates Now.

TALK ON THE PRIMARY REVISION

Does It Mean Majority Or Plurality?--Will It Bind The Legislature To Follow Its Instructions?--

General Gossip.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, July 16.—That state politics are going to begin from now on is apparent by the installation of the campaign headquarters of the various candidates for the United States Senate in this city. Each of the four candidates has his campaign manager and his campaign headquarters. It promises to be a bitter fight before the end comes at the primaries in September.

A Question. And it is a question of much importance to the candidates to know if the end will come in September. Each of the four candidates believes it will, but there are others who doubt it. Many are prone to believe that the end will not come until the legislature meets and the vote for United States Senator is taken according to the United States constitution by the legislature. Will the members of the legislature abide by the choice of the primary or will they vote for the man of their own choice.

Constant Reports. There have been constant reports among the politicians that when it came to the actual selection of a senator to succeed Isaac Stephenson the primary election law would not be worth the paper that it is written on. The members of the legislature will be called upon to select a senator according to the United States constitution and the constitution and the opportunity for amendments. In judging the returns is cited as a reason for the belief that the primary may not be binding. For instance, it might be contended that no account of participation by democrats or socialists in the republican primaries, that the face of the returns did not show the actual wishes of the republican party.

An Agreement. It has been suggested that one way to obviate this is for the four candidates to agree to have their followers abide by the primary vote. This is all right in a way but the candidates should then have the law interpreted so as to discover whether the primary, or the majority of the voters to elect a senator, is the way to go. There are many ways to skin a cat and twice as many for a wily politician to get around the expressed desire and will of the people. The primary law is causing lots of bother and the men who shouted for

The plank also provides for a repeal of internal revenue tax on production of interstate traffic in alcoholic liquors. On other issues the platform is substantially as outlined last night.

BATTLESHIP FLEET WILL REACH HONOLULU TODAY

Sixteen American Cruisers Drop Anchor In Harbor Of Capital Of Hawaii.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., July 16.—The American fleet of sixteen battleships will reach another stage of its globe-girdling journey when it drops anchor in the harbor of Honolulu today. Recent dispatches from the capital of Hawaii tell of elaborate plans that have been made for the entertainment of the officers and men of the fleet during their week's visit there. Of all the places to be visited by the fleet during their week's visit there, of all the places to be visited by the fleet on its cruise around the world it is safe to say that none offers more attractions for the visitor than Honolulu and the Hawaii Islands, which were annexed to the United States in 1897.

This Hawaiian group, tropical, volcanic, beautiful, lies more than two thousand miles from San Francisco and about three thousand miles from the nearest mainland to the far west. No where in the world is there to be found a more attractive and delightful country. Eight islands comprise the group. Hawaii, Oahu, Kauai, Maui and Molokai are the principal ones. Situated within the tropics, but swept by the trade winds, with a boundless expanse of sea on every side, and mountains towering thirteen thousand feet above the ocean level, with an almost daily gentle rain on the windward and almost absolute dryness on the leeward side, the whole island group is a natural sanitarium.

ALIA DIED WHEN HIS TIME CAME

MURDER OF FATHER LEO HEINRICH, RICHES IN DENVER AVENGED.

Was Hung Last Evening at Eight thirty—Scornful to the Very End.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Denver, Colo., July 16.—Giuseppe Alia, murderer of Father Leo Heinrich, died last evening on the scaffold. His execution occurred at 8:30 and up to the moment the black cap was put over his head he remained calm and scornful.

Giuseppe Alia's crime, the murder of Father Leo Heinrich, of the Order of Franciscan monks, at the altar rail in St. Elizabeth's church in Denver while the priest was administering the sacrament of the Eucharist, was a heinous one. The priest was a devoted man and his death was a great loss to the church.

PAID PENALTY FOR CRIME

Alia Had Been in Denver Several Weeks, Unemployed and Apparently penniless. Early on the morning of Sunday, February 23, according to his story, he was aroused from sleep by the ringing of the chimes in St. Elizabeth's church. He arose, dressed himself hurriedly and walked out to the church, led by the musical tones pealing forth a call to worship. But he went not with the thought of thanksgiving in mind, for he declared, and many times repeated, after his arrest, that the chimes recalled to him wrongs experienced by his native Italy, and attributed by him to the church.

Entering the church, Alia went through the usual ceremony of blessing himself with holy water, and then seated himself where his view of the altar would be unobstructed. There he followed the ritual up to the point where communion is given to all who are prepared. Alia approached the altar and, kneeling, awaited the arrival of the priest officiating at the communion; not knowing, Alia has said, or caring who it should be.

A number of other communicants had assumed the same posture, and positions at the communion rail were practically all taken. When Father Leo—beloved by those who knew him both in and outside the church—appeared with the consecrated wafer, all at the rail seemed impressed with the solemnity and sacredness of the service and inspired with thoughts of God. Alia, however, according to his own statement, could barely restrain a desire to spring at the throat of the priest, despite the place, the scene and the peculiarly sacred character of the action in progress.

Along the line passed the priest, placing upon the tongue of each successive communicant the consecrated wafer and repeating the lines of the mass declaring the Eucharist thus administered is the Savior himself in person. Alia was now the next in line. Father Leo placing the wafer upon the tongue of the stranger, all unsuspecting, began: "Take, eat; this is my body," but stopped horror-stricken. The subject of the prayer had snatched the blessed morsel from his mouth. Almost simultaneously with this desecration a shot rang out and Father Leo sank to the floor mortally wounded. A bullet from a revolver fired by Alia had penetrated the priest's body near the heart. Father William Workman, hearing the shot, rushed from the adjoining sacristy just in time to administer to Father Leo the last sacrament, Father Leo expiring a moment later in the arms of his brother-priest. Immediately after firing the shot, Alia, with a curse, darted toward the main

MANY NOTABLES TO BE AT CELEBRATION

Various Countries Will Send Representatives to the Tercentenary of the Founding of Quebec.

Quebec, July 16.—A list of the distinguished guests who are to be in this city during the coming week on the occasion of the great celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of Quebec would read like pages extracted from the "Almanach de Gotha" and the "Statesman's Year Book." First and foremost, of course, will be the Prince of Wales, who will be accompanied by a brilliant staff, so that none of the pomp and ceremony of the British court will be missing.

After his royal highness the most popular visitor to Quebec probably will be General Lord Roberts, the hero of the Boer war and probably the most popular man in the British army.

The United States will be officially represented by a party headed by Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks and which will include a number of prominent army and naval officers. The government of the French republic will be represented by Vice-Admiral Jauréguiberry; L. S. Herpoite, councillor of state; and J. De Loynes, minister-general in Canada.

Other visitors of note will include Earl Dudley, the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Ranfurly, Sir Alfred Lyttleton, the Marchioness of Denham, Lord Lovat and Sir Henry de Villiers.

The prominent officials and other men of note from all the provinces of Canada have been invited to attend the celebration and hundreds of them have accepted the invitation. Military organizations from every part of the Dominion will be in attendance and there will also be present a number of semi-military units and organizations from the United States. A special detachment of the Northwest mounted police will serve as a body-guard to the Prince of Wales during his visit to the city.

Warships belonging to the navies of Great Britain, France and the United States will fill the harbor of Quebec during the celebration. Several of the warships have already reached here and others are expected before the end of the week.

The crowd during the week will be by far the largest that has ever assembled in any city of Canada. All of the hotel accommodations were reserved weeks ago and the boarding houses likewise have booked all of the guests they can accommodate. But the hotels and boarding houses will take care of only a small proportion of the celebration visitors. Private residences will accommodate hundreds and countless others will be quartered in the tent city, which will be one of the unique features of the celebration.

As on all such occasions it is expected that the city will be the scene for pickpockets and other varieties of criminals who are always attracted where the crowd is largest. The local police and detective force will be more than doubled next week and will have the assistance of leading detectives from Montreal, New York, Chicago and other large cities.

GETTING READY TO COMMENCE CAMPAIGN

Offices for Republican Committee Are Now Being Fitted Up in St. James Building.

New York, July 16.—The real work of the presidential campaign on the republican side will soon be not in motion from this city. The fifteenth floor of the big St. James building is now being fitted up for use of the congressional committee and it is expected the entire force will move in within the next ten days. The national committee probably will have offices in the Metropolitan Life building, just across the street, as heretofore. In former years the two committees have done their work independently of each other, but in the present campaign the two headquarters will be connected by private telephone wires and it is expected they will work in close harmony.

JACOB JACOBSEN.

St. Paul, Minn.—The republicans of Minnesota have concluded that the best way to win was to disavow any support of "What's in a Name," John Johnson, democrat, who was able to redeem the republican commonwealth and successfully carry it by a large majority in his repeated races for governor. In fact, John Johnson secured so strong a hold on the affections and sentiments of Minnesota that he straightway became her favorite son and her candidate for president.

But democracy no longer has an exclusive mortgage on this name business. The republican convention, which has just adjourned at St. Paul, has emulated their opponent's example and the new figure on the political horizon is not John Johnson, but Jacob Jacobson. Jacob Jacobson is the republican nominee for governor, and it is the hope of Minnesota republicans that Ted's popularity will assist in sweeping a republican governor to the state capital. At any rate Jacob Jacobson will make the try.

Which leads to the conclusion that there are a few Swedes in Minnesota.

Fatal Defect of the Democracy

Minneapolis Tribune: The proceeding at Denver illustrate well the fatal defect of the democratic party as a machine for governing the country.

The irreducible supremacy of Bryan, the bitter dissension under it of a powerful minority of property and education, the almost total neglect of Governor Johnson, to the amazement of his short-sighted friends, all point in the same direction.

The democratic party is weak just where a political party should be strong to govern successfully a country like this.

It is weak among the great thrifty and industrious middle class, who are either contented with their little business, satisfactory employment and adequate wages, or reasonably hopeful of the advancement they desire.

We do not argue the reason why the middle class should not embrace either the higher or the lower, but the truth remains that in all times and in all countries, who is called the bourgeoisie has been the strongest support of governments that ask people to surrender some ideals of complete individual freedom in return for guaranty of order and prosperity for business.

Since its fatal obsession by Mr. Bryan twelve years ago, the democratic party has been unable either to govern the country or to act in opposition as a check upon the party that did, for want of this solid, commonplace, everyday element of support.

We have been most hopeful of Governor Johnson because no other seems to be so well adapted to cope with where leadership this fatal defect in the democratic party.

Jenkins' Reasonable Refusal

Evening Wisconsin: In order to undermine the standing of Congressman Jenkins, and make an opening for himself, Leavort has been going about the district misrepresenting the congressman's record.

That he is satisfied with the results of his canvass so far as it has proceeded seems unlikely, for now he seeks to change the plan of procedure with which he began and to secure the privilege of addressing voters who gather to hear Congressman Jenkins.

The latter sharply rebukes him for the misrepresentation to which he has resorted and very reasonably refuses to accept his proposition.

The state of Wisconsin and the republican party at large have an interest in the outcome of the canvass in the Eleventh district. It is to be hoped that the district will not make the mistake of preferring an inexperienced and narrow man like Leavort to a tried, able and broad man like John J. Jenkins for its representative in the national legislature.

Club Officials Ought to See That Practice Is Smothered in Its Infancy to Insure the Safety of Our Great National Pastime.

The race track gamblers, finding themselves barred at the different race tracks throughout the country, are said to be turning their attention to baseball, and a noticeable increase in the betting at the New York, Detroit, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh ball grounds is reported.

It is a menace which must not be overlooked, and the greatest of care should be taken to prevent the gamblers from monopolizing the game.

BASEBALL GAMBLING

Open Betting Threatens National Game's Prosperity.

EVIL SHOULD BE WIPED OUT.

There is a growing tendency all over the country to gamble on baseball, and those who safeguard the game cannot be too watchful in guarding against this demoralizing influence.

It has been said that it is unsafe to bet big money on anything that can talk or understand what is said.

Baseball players are no better and no worse than the average citizen, and the managers and owners of clubs should see to it that they are not duly tempted.

It may be impossible to prevent patrons of the game from betting on the results, but it is not difficult or unreasonable to call a halt on money betting where odds are offered and taken with a great display of money.

Ball grounds are no places for dealings of this sort.

Many years ago betting came near killing baseball, for it became known that some of the ball players were in league with the gamblers, throwing the games or trying to win them, as the betting demanded.

The managers, fearing out the guilty ones, blackballed them and then framed rules to safeguard the game against a repetition of the scandal.

How well they succeeded is best told by the great popularity of the game today, for baseball has grown and developed until it is indeed the great national pastime, equaled by no other game that was ever invented.

Baseball just suits the American youth. It is full of action, requires exceptional ability on the part of a player to become a star and yet can be played by almost any one regardless of mental attainments or even physical imperfections.

It is, in fact, a game that is universal and suited to all tastes, be it either as participant or spectator. It is because of this fact that the crowds at the ball grounds grow larger and larger each year, while the number of boys and young men who play the game during their off-time from school or shop increases with each season.

The enthusiasm that has worked up in a community that has a winning ball team, one that stands at the head of the league or association in which it is entered, is simply wonderful.

Everybody talks baseball in season and out, and the greatest punishment that could be inflicted on one of these "fans" would be to render it impossible for him to either see the games or hear the result of the contest.

But, great as is the interest now felt in baseball, the patrons would quickly fade away were the gamblers to again get in touch with the players and be able to control the results.

Every baseball man knows this, and the managers try hard to keep down the betting evil on ball grounds. But they do not always try hard enough, as is proved by the fact that betting is still carried on to an extent that is positively dangerous.

These men's suits at 25 per cent off are just as good as if we asked what they are really worth. The argument of money saving is about as strong as anything we know of and it doesn't take a shrewd mathematician to figure the amount you can shift to the bank account from these prices.

Take the $30 suits for instance, now they go at $22.50. The $25 suits down to $18.75. Those $22.50 suits are offered at $16.88, and the $20 suits at $15. Those formerly $18 at $13.50, the $15 at $11.25, those at $12 now $9, and the $10 down to $7.50. These are all men's suits and take in all the beautiful shades of this season's goods.

THE Children's Suits are cut in price the same way and in our big main street window are displayed some of the handsome boys' outfits—Suits with coats and knicker pants, the regular $6 suits down to $4.50; those $5 now $3.75, and so on. The entire children's department is included in this 25 per cent reduction, and mothers who have a limited amount of money to spend can secure some exceptional bargains.

THE VACANT CHAIRS.

This is a picture of the room where the president's cabinet meets, and a group of the nine cabinet chairs, which will be ready for new occupants on the fourth day of next March.

By HENDRICK.

Washington.—With the nomination of Mr. Taft for the presidency, Republican politicians and newspaper editors are assuming that Republican supremacy at the November polls is an assured conclusion. In fact, this idea has become so omnipresent that a number of states are already appearing to be ready to accept the membership of the new president's cabinet. A compilation of the various suggestions for cabinet places that have been made show the following suggestions for cabinet preference:

Secretary of State—Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, German Ambassador David Jayne Hill, Senator Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Robert Bacon of New York.

Secretary of the Treasury—George L. Von Meyer of Massachusetts, Charles G. Dawes of Illinois, George H. Cortelyou of New York.

Secretary of War—Luke E. Wright of Tennessee, Charles E. Macgon of Nebraska.

Attorney General—Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota.

Postmaster General—Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Navy—William Loeb of New York, Truman H. Newberry of Michigan, George L. Knight of California.

Secretary of the Interior—Wade Ellis of Ohio, Chester I. Long of Kansas, C. Hanson Slomp of Virginia.

Secretary of Agriculture—James Wilson of Iowa.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor, Charles W. Fulton of Oregon.

As a matter of fact cabinet preferences are the merest political dope, and yet there are scores of dopes who delight in their art. The prophecies which have been made thus far seem to have based particularly on the knowledge of the personal make-up and inclinations of Mr. Taft, taken with certain political promises which the sequence of past events seem to have promised and produced.

In view of the close relationship between Theodore Roosevelt and Montague Taft, it would seem highly probable that a considerable portion of the Roosevelt cabinet would become identified with the Taft cabinet. In event of Republican victory. And yet the most striking part of the prognostications, to date, is the notable absence of Roosevelt advisers in the Taft list. It must be said, however, on the other hand, that presidents in the past have rarely drawn upon the cabinets of their predecessors in selecting their political family.

The fact that James Wilson of Iowa continues without opposition as secretary of agriculture on all the slates of all the different cabinet prophecies is a striking testimonial of the splendid work which this splendid man has done in the long and continuous years during which he has been identified with this work.

Secretary Wilson has today been longer in cabinet services than any other man. He is an agriculturalist himself by birth, training and inclination. For years prior to this entrance in Washington politics he was director of the agricultural experiment station and professor of agriculture at Iowa Agricultural college at Ames. He became secretary of agriculture March 5, 1897, in the first cabinet of President McKinley. From that day to this he has served without a break. He has held his position because of the splendid development which he has produced in the work of this department. It seems extremely probable he will continue in the harness. If he so desires, through the administration of another president, provided always that the new president is to continue Republican.

The cabinet prophecies seem to be particularly shy of material for some of the places farthest down the list. Thus far the only man they have suggested for secretary of commerce and labor is Senator Fulton of Oregon, who has just been defeated by a Democrat in the Oregon primaries for re-election.

It seems quite probable that Luke E. Wright of Tennessee will continue as secretary of war in view of the fact that he has only just entered the cabinet in this position and particularly in view of the fact that he has become secretary of war as the successor of Mr. Taft by appointment by President Roosevelt and presumably with the entire consent and acquiescence of the man whom he succeeds. On the other hand, Charles E. Macgon of Nebraska has served in Panama and Cuba with striking success and is a man after Taft's own heart. He has the Taft physique, the Taft personality, the Taft ability and the Taft ability. If he is to be through in Cuba by the 4th of March next it would be very probable that a Republican president would find a place for him and his valued advice in the cabinet, and if not in the war department, possibly in the navy or even in the portfolio of justice.

The most important cabinet assignment which the new president will have to make is secretaryship of state. It must be always borne in mind that the secretary of state is only the second place removed in line of succession to the presidency, and in the unfortunate but not impossible event of the death of the president and vice president, the secretary of state becomes chief executive. The Chicago Record-Herald has said that Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Ohio would be the undoubted choice for this place.

Congressman Burton is the man who placed Taft in nomination in the Chicago convention. His abilities, inclinations and experience are in diplomatic lines and he is a splendid type of the finished American statesman. His name is not only one, however, which has been brought out. Robert Bacon, who is at present assistant secretary of state, is a close friend of the present president and has even been said to be in line for first place. On the other hand it would not surprise the knowing ones to see Bacon placed in the new cabinet in some position a little further down the line because of his inexperience in governmental affairs.

Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts could, undoubtedly have the place if he would take it, but ordinarily the United States senator with a mortgage on his seat considers himself better placed than even in a president's cabinet. Vice President Fairbanks has been frequently suggested as a possibility at the head of the cabinet. Ambassador David Jayne Hill, who has just left the Netherlands for a commission in Berlin, is also being groomed.

Among the other men mentioned above, Frank B. Kellogg is the Minnesota trust buster; Truman H. Newberry is the secretary of the navy;

Frank H. Hitchcock was the Taft manager who turned the Chicago trick. Hanson Slomp is a Republican congressman from Democratic Virginia. William Loeb is secretary to President Roosevelt. George L. Meyer is now postmaster general. Charles G. Dawes is ex-comptroller of the currency. Wade Ellis is the Ohio attorney general who was known in Chicago as the platform carpenter. George L. Knight of California is the orator who electrified the convention four years ago in support of Roosevelt and again this summer in support of Taft.

The task of suggesting a presidential cabinet for Mr. Taft is, of course, the height of speculation and yet it is the simplest job on earth compared with the task of suggesting a Democratic cabinet, were a Democratic cabinet, were a Democratic nominee to succeed at the November polls. It may be natural that no Democratic cabinet prophecies would be expected in advance of the presidential nomination itself but the fact remains that not a single prophetic has appeared in the Democratic realm.

"I hear you said at the club last night that I was a thief and a liar." "What of it? There was nobody there but a few of your personal friends."

Romance of Wealth: H. J. D. Blackmore of Chicago, a mining engineer who has been operating in Mexico, was a guest at the Hotel Myers this week. According to the story which he related in a casual fashion to a little group of loungers in the lobby, Jack Blackmore, after making and losing a million dollars half a dozen times in Australia, has now piled up a fortune amounting to fifteen or twenty millions in mining operations. The last time he went broke he came back to San Francisco and hunted up his old friend Bill who was then clerking in a hotel. Bill had $10,000 and insisted that Jack take the entire sum and go back to the island continent. Bill is now worth several millions, himself, and is managing one of the biggest mines in Australia.

The Chautauqua 1908 Opens July 26th

AT BEAUTIFUL MOLE'S GROVE--ENDING AUGUST 2nd
EIGHT DAYS OF RECREATION, RELAXATION AND AMUSEMENT
HALF THE NET PROCEEDS TO BE GIVEN TO MERCY HOSPITAL
An opportunity of hearing the greatest orators, musicians and entertainers in the country. Season tickets—
Adults $1.50, Children $1.00; single admission—Adults 25c, Children 15c.

We cordially invite all to come and enjoy a delightful outing at the Chautauqua, thus adding vigor to the body as well as culture of mind and heart. Meals, lunches and refreshments will be for sale upon the grounds, at reasonable prices.

The 1908 Chautauqua will be of high standard and yet broad enough in its scope to furnish recreation, relaxation and uplifting amusement. Its mission is to please, to instruct and to elevate. With the importance of these points in view, eloquent lectures, splendid musicians, and able teachers have been engaged where ever the best in their respective lines were to be found, to bring to the patrons of the Assembly some of the world's best wit and wisdom, music and good cheer.

There is no outing so cheap, healthy and beneficial. A whole family can tent on the grounds for the price it would cost one member to take an ordinary trip. With a season ticket the cost of the entertainments is less than three cents each.

The Janesville Chautauqua will be held at beautiful Moles Grove, July 26 to August 2, inclusive. These grounds will be under the control of the Chautauqua board who will see that everything possible is done for the pleasure and welfare of its patrons. The grounds is an ideal place for holding the Chautauqua. Easy of access to the city, carpeted with green, good cool water at convenient places, a wealth of shade, it is a beautiful place for camping and picnicing.

Scores of professional entertainers—people that it will be a delight to meet

is an exceptionally strong attraction. Each member is an artist, eminently fitted for her work. Their voices blend in perfect harmony. The company has an extended repertoire, consisting of quartettes, trios, duets, solos and readings. Mrs. Lavender, who is the manager of this talented organization, is a Chautauqua and Lyceum favorite, and is recognized as the greatest lady baritone on the platform.

JOSEFFY,

the man of mystery, presents a delightful program of things to laugh and wonder at. His illusions are of his own invention, and he is recognized among all magicians as the cleverest originator in the profession. As a musician, Joseffy is not only a skillful performer, but is endowed with that rare gift of discernment which enables him to make just such selections as are enjoyed by popular audiences everywhere.

PROGRAM THIS YEAR FINEST IN THE HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY

is altogether wholesome, uplifting and beneficial. This Chautauqua touches the people for good at every point, makes no enemies and brings all together in the bond of common humanity and sympathy for each other. It is a great unifier of all sorts and conditions of men, and has the broadest gauged platform in America. No wonder all the people are for it, and Rock county unites in its support.

THE HOUSTONS.

Two of them—Mr. and Mrs. Houston—give an entertainment that not only is pleasing, but that is decidedly novel. Mr. Houston, with his voice, imitates various musical instruments and imitates Hermann the magician, and gives an imitation of a little German band. Mrs. Houston presents some new readings, and the two will be seen in some clever sketches. The Houstons are real entertainers.

CARTER'S CAROLINIANS.

stand among the leading colored companies. They are educated ladies and gentlemen, and under the direction of Walter C. Carter, have reached a point of perfection rarely attained by a band of jubilee singers. They sing the old plantation songs, and are the original jubilee company. Mr. Carter is said to be the colored Paderewski. The Carolinians will give life to the Chautauqua.

MR. WILLIAM STERLING BATTIS,

popularly known as "The Dickens Man" is the greatest interpreter of Dickens in the world. His "Life Portraits from Dickens" are not only highly instructive, giving one an idea of the great novelist, his characters and stories and why he wrote them, but are also among the most fascinating and delightful entertainments on the platform. Mr. Battis makes up and costumes each character in full view of the audience, and all his impersonations are true to life.

EDGAR M. WRIGHT.

Native eloquence, thorough scholarship, and ethical earnestness are the qualities which combine to make Mr. Edgar M. Wright one of the strongest and most effective men on the lecture platform. His lectures are pure and elevating. He is the kind of man that "wears well." Wherever he lectures the people demand his return. As Sam Jones said, he is "a gentleman, a scholar, a Christian and a whole team."

MISS LUND

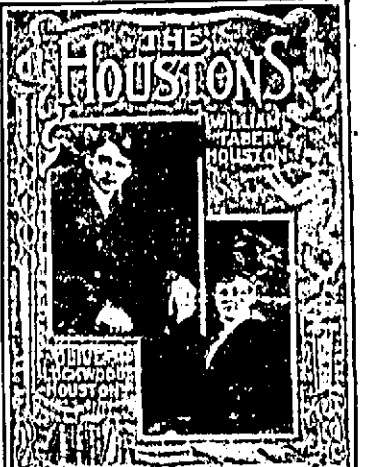

WM. STERLING BATTIS

MRS. MARTHA GIELOW

CARTER'S CAROLINIANS

whose unparalleled success as an interpreter of plantation folk-lore has won for her renown in both England and America, holds a unique position on the Lyceum and Chautauqua platform. Mrs. Gielow stands without a peer as an artist, and paints, with dramatic skill and the gift of genius, scenes from old plantation days that are no more. Many of Mrs. Gielow's songs and stories are original; brimming over with fun, humor and pathos, touching the heart, and melting the soul with their exquisite tenderness.

The general plan of the Chautauqua this year exceeds previous years in every way—Better talent has been secured; more time has been spent; and $500.00 has been added to the amount of last year used in securing the entertainers. Great efforts have been gone to, to make this Chautauqua a big success. The work is a credit to Janesville, and the general good derived is incalculable.

CHILDREN MAY BE TAKEN FROM HER

Chief Appleby and Dr. Sutherland Found Evidence to Substantiate Charges Against Mrs. Harry Kimball.

On complaint of Missionary J. Schmidt, Chief of Police George Appleby and Dr. Fred Sutherland visited the home of Mrs. Harry Kimball at 58 Pleasant street this morning and made an investigation of the alleged cruelty of the mother to her three little children, and particularly the six-year-old daughter, May. In evident anticipation of such a visit, the woman had dressed the little girl up in a neat frock and had evidently told her what to say in answer to any questions which might be propounded.

"In view of the fact that there was an ugly bruise on her left cheek, the visitors refused to receive her. Sutherland had the child's clothes removed and made a thorough examination. He found large bruises on the left shoulder and hip, and the left hip joint was black and blue and swollen. The left arm also showed ugly thumb and finger marks, and there were bruises on other portions of the body. When questioned regarding some of the injuries, little May explained that she had sustained a series of bad falls, tumbling out of trees and off fences. The small boy had gone into the country, according to his mother, and in consequence no satisfactory inquiry could be made into his case.

Missionary Schmidt charges the woman with having beaten her children unmercifully from time to time. Attracted by their screams he had visited the place on several occasions and accompanied with Mrs. Kimball, but a court request to mind his own business has been about the only result. To Chief Appleby she made the admission that she sometimes resorted to corporal punishment in correcting the infants but insisted that it was never more severe than necessary. The boy is eight years old and one of the trio is a babe in arms.

Mrs. Kimball's husband was formerly a hack driver. About nine months ago he was found guilty of living with a woman other than his wife and sentenced to serve one year in the state penitentiary. His wife claims to have received a letter from him stating that he would be at liberty within a couple of months and that he would kill her, if upon his return to Janesville, he should find that she had not been true to him.

Chief Appleby called Poor Commissioner Kenyon's attention to the matter and it is probable that the children will be taken away from their unnatural mother and placed in some public institution.

NELSON CASE SET FOR TRIAL FRIDAY

Defense Alleges That Mrs. Nelson's Condition Was Solely Due to Consumption of Too Much Booze.

When Atty. Charles Reader, representing the defense in the case of the State vs. Laverne Nelson, insisted that cause be shown why the trial should not be held this morning, District Attorney J. F. Fisher said for Mr. A. Cunningham. The latter, upon his arrival in the court room, gave testimony to the effect that when Mrs. Adelle Nelson, the chief complaining witness, attempted to walk across the room this morning her heart action was noticeably increased and that she complained of feeling "light-headed." He therefore did not think it would be wise for her to attempt to appear in court and give testimony on the witness stand today. However, that the patient's condition was improving rapidly and he believed that she would be able to make an appearance in court tomorrow. An adjournment was therefore taken to Friday morning at ten o'clock. The defense will insist upon having a jury and if the case goes to trial tomorrow, the taking of testimony will probably not begin until afternoon. The charges of assault and battery, preferred against Nelson, will probably stand as they seem to be the little evidence to substantiate the charge of attempting to administer poison. The defense claims that the sickly substance in the bottom of the dipper was merely sugar and water from some bonedown which had been left standing in the tin for several days. It also alleges that Mrs. Nelson's hysteria and headache resulted solely from the unwise consumption of the greater portion of a pint of whiskey which her husband procured for her.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT'S CHURCH IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C.—Much discussion has arisen, especially among church members, as to whether William Howard Taft, republican non-line for president of the United States, is a regular church member and believer or an atheist. This discussion was caused by the statement some time ago from a source which was thought to be reliable, that Mr. Taft was a non-believer. This paper has looked the matter up thoroughly through its representatives at Washington and finds that William Howard Taft is a regular attendant at All Souls Unitarian church. This beautiful church is located on the southeast corner of Fourteenth and L streets. It is a red brick building, and is draped from steeple to steps in ivy.

The present edifice is only a little over 20 years old and before its construction the congregation worshipped in a building that later became the district police court. This building was erected in 1821, and numbered among its members such illustrious men as Calhoun, Daniel Webster and Bullfinch. The bell of this church, which was afterwards removed to the new edifice at Fourteenth and L streets, and still remains, is a relic of devotion to prayer, was cast by Paul Revere in 1821, and bears his name. For years it was the only large bell in Washington, and was loaned to annoince weddings, deaths, births and other festivals, to say nothing of acting as a general fire alarm.

Ever since the bell was first placed in position it has joyously tolled in the election of a president and when, through sickness or assassination, a president has passed away, the tolling of this same bell has announced the passing.

Mr. Taft is one of the most regular attendants of the church, and is a new member. Both his father and mother were of the Unitarian faith and his grandfather was one of the pioneers in that religion in Connecticut.

At Murray Bay, Canada, where for the last 16 years Mr. Taft has spent his three months' vacation, he has been an ardent worker at the union chapel of the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches and is deeply interested in the welfare of the little church.

Mrs. Taft and her daughter, Helen, as well as Charles Taft, attend St. John's Episcopal church and Miss Taft was confirmed in that edifice about a year ago.

BRITISH CARRY OFF MORE MEDALS

WIN CYCLING AND TEAM RACES AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

AMERICA GETS A SECOND

Swimming and Diving Events in the Tank Furnish the Closest and Most Interesting Contests.

London, July 16.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden, as the winners of the finals of Wednesday's events at the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden each secured one first.

United States had to be satisfied with one silver medal, symbols of second place in the three-mile race, but the American representation in the various events was small.

It was proudly announced Wednesday night from the offices of the British Olympic association that the attendance at the stadium Wednesday was the largest since the opening. The stands certainly filled up during the afternoon, as compared with Tuesday, but still it is the number of spectators to be taken as an evidence, the public is showing little interest, at least in the preliminary events.

America Second in Team Race.
There were four finals assigned to the day and of these England won the 600-yard cycling race and the three-mile team race, thus bringing the number of gold medals accorded to Great Britain to date up to four, as compared with two standing to the credit of the United States. The only final in which the latter country participated was the three-mile team race and the American team finished an easy second.

France captured her gold medal for a victory in the 2,000-meter tandem cycling race, and Sweden for Lennings' record-breaking javelin throw of 178 feet 7 1/2 inches, which topped the best previous throw by more than three feet.

Greene, France and Great Britain each took a silver medal for seconds in the javelin throwing, 600-yard cycling race, and 2,000-meter event, respectively, while Norway, Germany and Sweden took the bronze medals in the same events.

Close Heats in Swimming.
The closest finish of the day was in the first heat of the semi-finals of the 400-meter swimming event, O. Scheff of Austria winning by the smallest fraction from H. Taylor of England. The second heat of the semi-finals also was a splendid contest, Boarepairo of Australia having all he could do to keep ahead of Foster of England. These four, Scheff, Taylor, Boarepairo and Foster, qualified for the final. From Scheff's time, 5 minutes, 40.3 seconds, which was 3.25 seconds faster than that made in the second heat, it looks as though Austria may capture a gold medal.

Another event in the tank which attracted much attention was the fancy diving, the third and fourth heats of which were decided, Behrens of Germany won the third heat with 82.5 points, Erlington of England, and Metcalf of Finland, tied for second with 70.83 points. Potts of England captured the fourth heat, his score being 82.5, while Nicolai of Germany was second with 65.1.

Retired Minister is Murdered.
Metchen, N. J., July 16.—P. B. D. Prickett, a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal church and former recorder of the borough of Metuchen, was shot and killed on the street Wednesday. Archie Heron, charged with the shooting, stood at the head of the stairs in his home with a cocked revolver to defy arrest but finally surrendered when the constable told him he would be taken dead or alive no matter how many he killed. Two years ago, while Mr. Prickett was recorder, Heron was frequently arraigned before him for disorderly conduct and was once sentenced to ten days in jail.

Dubonic Plague in the Azores.
Lisbon, July 16.—The bubonic plague has made its appearance on the island of Terceira, one of the Azores group.

SHERIFF BURNS A SALOON.

Oklahoma Officer Enforces the Liquor Law to the Letter.

Cottleville, Kan., July 16.—Just at dusk Wednesday night Sheriff Riley and three deputies from Nowata, Okla., after confiscating ten barrels of beer for evidence and arresting the proprietors, set fire to and completely destroyed a roadhouse and saloon erected just over the Oklahoma line a few days ago.

The action by the sheriff was taken in response to his instructions to carry out the application of the new Billups liquor law of Oklahoma, which orders that all saloons or places of the sort shall be destroyed upon discovery.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable solvent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchitis and other pulmonary troubles and subdues the most violent hemorrhages. It is not so effective. It is in the lingering, hang-over coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Wiley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In respiration it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed amount of oxygen, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon emphysema, disordered stomachs, especially those of nervous or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of heartburn and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity. "Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, acrofolia swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

TO OPEN CAMPAIGN IN THE FAR WEST

HITCHCOCK CALLS CONFERENCE IN COLORADO SPRINGS.

MANY LEADERS INVITED

Republican Chairman May Make His Permanent Quarters in Chicago—Vorys Tells Taft Ohio Is Safe.

Washington, July 16.—Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock of the Republican national committee will open the campaign of 1908 in the far west. Practically the first movement in the campaign for the election of Taft and Sherman will be made at Colorado Springs, Col., Monday and Tuesday, July 20 and 21.

In the Antlers hotel, at Colorado Springs, Chairman Hitchcock will hold a conference with the Republican leaders of all the states and territories west of the Missouri river. Represented at the conference will be North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Oregon and California. The Republican chairmen and the Republican national committee men of these states and territories have been invited by Chairman Hitchcock to attend the conference, and all have notified him of their intention to be present.

In the near future similar conferences will be held by Chairman Hitchcock with Republican leaders in the middle west and in the east. The place of the middle west conference will be Chicago, and it probably will be held about ten days after the Colorado Springs conference. Some time subsequently a conference of the eastern leaders will be held in New York city.

For Headquarters in Chicago.

Chairman Hitchcock leaves Washington Thursday for Colorado Springs. On the way he will stop in Chicago on Friday to make arrangements for western Republican headquarters in that city. Already by telegraph and by long-distance telephone he has arranged in part for the headquarters he desires in Chicago, and on his arrival there it probably will take him only a few hours to complete his plans. The headquarters will be located in an office building, Mr. Hitchcock preferring such a location to a hotel.

In this connection it can be said to be not unlikely that Mr. Hitchcock may make his permanent headquarters during the campaign in Chicago instead of New York. He has the question under consideration, but has reached no definite conclusion. Final decision of the matter may depend, to some extent, upon the selection of a vice-chairman of the national committee. It has not been determined yet who that may be, and it is not the purpose of Mr. Hitchcock to name the vice-chairman until he is prepared to announce the national executive committee.

Vorys Sure of Ohio.
Hot Springs, Va., July 16.—Arthur I. Vorys, manager of the national campaign for the Republican party in Ohio, arrived at Hot Springs Wednesday and had a long talk with Judge Taft on conditions in Ohio. Mr. Vorys expects that Ohio will give the Republican ticket an old-time majority next November.

"This is the time," he said, "when the Democrats always carry Ohio in a presidential campaign. Ohio Republicans have their own troubles and they always inspire a Democratic hope of an internal split and bolt. This is the time when these troubles are settled and over. If it required anything to do it, the claim that the Democrats will carry Ohio this fall has completely settled all our troubles and cemented all Republicans in Ohio in a determination to elect the national, state and legislative ticket by 100,000 at least."

Nominated by One-Third of a Vote.
Easton Springs, Ky., July 16.—By what is probably the narrowest margin on record, Judge Amos W. Davis of Morgan county Wednesday won the Democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth Kentucky district. Judge Davis was nominated on the eleventh ballot over five competitors, receiving 18 1/3 votes, 48 being necessary to nominate.

Mine Disaster in Prussia.
Essen, Rhineland Prussia, July 16.—A terrible dynamite explosion occurred Wednesday in the dynamite storeroom in the seventh level of one of the collieries near Duerbeck. Eight dead have been brought to the surface and eight injured, several of whom are in a hopeless condition. Three others are still underground and are probably dead.

A Beauty Note.
Deep frowning lines between the eyes give an expression of discontent, and the moment such lines appear a woman should begin to examine closely not her eyes, but her heart, for the feelings which spring from the heart quickly find expression in the eyes.

Prospective Groom Murdered.
Dover, Del., July 16.—That William Williams, aged 41 years, the prospective bridegroom who had obtained a license to wed a 13-year-old girl, and whose body was found hanging to a tree near Maryland, Md., Tuesday, was murdered, was established by the coroner who held an inquest in the case. The jury found that Williams came to his death by a blow on the head from a blunt instrument.

I tried many different remedies for these complaints, but until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Peoples' drug company I found little or no help. Peculiar Clock Weight.

The most remarkable clock weight in Maine is that of the Baptist church at Cherryfield, an old smooth-bore cannon. The old cannon was one of the old smooth-bore type and was brought by Gleason R. Campbell from Boston on one of the return trips of lumber vessels.

That "Edna Droom" was worn his weight in gold to James Bansemer from that day forth. His employer's sole aim in life was to get rich and thereby to achieve power. His ambition was humble if one accepts the crowd of morals, but his methods were not so praiseworthy. After a year or two of starvation struggles to get on with the legitimate he picked up his scruples and laid them away—temporarily, he said. He resorted to sharp practice, knavery and all the forms of legal blackmail. It was not long before his bank account began to swell.
His business thrived. He was so clever that not one of his shady proceedings detected. It is safe to venture that 40 per cent of the people who were battered through his manipulations promised in the heat of virtuous wrath to expose him, but he had learned to smile in security. He knew that ex-posure for him meant imprisonment for the instigator, and he continued to rest easy while he worked hard.

"You're getting rich at this sort of thing," observed Droom one day after the lawyer had closed a particularly notorious deal to his own satisfaction,
"but what are you going to do when the tide turns?"
Bansemer, irritated on perceiving that the other was engaged in his exasperat-ing habit of rubbing his hands together, did not answer, but merely launched out: "Will you stop that?"
There was a faint suggestion of the possibility of a transition of the hands
to claws as Droom abruptly desisted, but smilingly went on:

"Some day the other shark will get the better of you, and you'll have nothing to fall back on. You've been building on mighty slim foundations. There isn't a sign of support if the worst comes to the worst," he chuckled.

"It's a large world, Droom," said his employer easily.
"And small also, according to another saying," supplemented Droom. "When a man's down, everybody kicks him.
I'm afraid you could not survive the kicking."

Droom grinned so diabolically as again he resumed the rubbing of his hands that the other turned away, with an oath, and closed the door to the inside office. Bansemer was alone and where Droom's eyes could not see him,
but something told him that the grin hung outside the door for many minutes, as if waiting for a chance to pop
in and tantalize him.

Bansemer was a good looking man of the coarser mold—the kind of man that merits a second look in passing, and the second look is not always in his favor. He was thirty-five years of age, but looked older. His face was hard and deeply marked with the lines of intensity. The black eyes were fascinating in their brilliancy, but there was a cruel, savage light in their depths. The nose and mouth were clean cut and pitiless in their very symmetry. Shortly after leaving college to hang out his shingle he had married the daughter of a minister. For two years after sweet influence kept his efforts along the righteous path, but he writhed beneath the yoke of poverty. His pride suffered because he was unable to provide her with more of the luxuries of life. In his selfish way he loved her. Failure to advance made him surly and impatient, despite her amiable efforts to lighten the shadows around their little home. When the baby boy was born to them and she suffered more and more from the unkindness of privation James Bansemer, by nature an aggressor, threw off restraint and plunged into the traffic that soon made him in-famously successful. She died, however, before the taint of his duplicity touched her, and he even in his grief

CHAPTER IV.

"LADY to see you," announced Droom. The strawed, fearless gentle of the inner room glanced up quickly and met the prolonged, uneasy gaze of his clerk. Unwillingly his eyes fell.

"Confound it, Lisa! Will you ever quit looking at me like that? There's something positively creepy in that stare of yours!"

"Lady to see you," repeated the clerk,
shifting about uneasily and then glancing away to take his customary look at the long row of books in the wall cases. He had performed this act a dozen times a day for more than five years. The habit had become so strong that chains could not have restrained him. It was what he considered a graceful way of dropping out of notice at the same time giving the impression that he was constantly busy.

"Are you Mr. Bansemer?" asked the woman with the babe in her arms as he crossed into the outer office.

"For a moment Bansemer purposely remained absorbed in the contemplation of his finger nails; then he shot a sudden, comprehensive glance which took in the young woman, her burden and all the supposed conditions. There was no doubt in his mind that here was another "intensity case," as he catalogued them in his big black book.
"I am," he replied shortly, for he usually made short, quick work of such cases. There was not much money in them at best. "Would you mind coming in to-morrow? I'm just leaving for the day."

"It will take but a few minutes, sir, and it would be very hard for me to get away again to-morrow," said the young woman nervously. "I'm a governess in a family way uptown, and my days are not very free."

"Is this your baby?" asked Bansemer, more interested. The word governess appealed to him. It meant that she had to do with wealthy people at least.

"No—that is—well, not exactly," she replied confusedly. "The lawyer looked at her so sharply that she flinched under his gaze. A kidnaper, thought he,
with the quick cunning of one who deals in stratagems. Instinctively he looked about as if to make sure that there were no unnecessary witnesses to share the secret.

"Come into this room," said he suddenly. "Both of you. See that we are not disturbed," he added to Droom.
"I think I can give you a few minutes, madam, and perhaps some very good advice. He seated," he went on, closing the door after them. His eyes rested on Droom's face for an instant
as the door closed, and he saw a particularly thrilling grin struggling on his thin lips. "Now, what is it? Be as brief as possible, please. I'm in quite a hurry."

It occurred to him at this juncture that the young woman was not particularly distressed. Instead, her rather pretty face was full of eagerness, and there was a certain lightness in her manner that puzzled him for the moment. Her companion was the older of the two and quite as prepos-sessing. Both were neatly dressed, and both looked as though they were or had been breadwinners. If they had a secret it was now quite evident to this shrewd, quick thinker that it was not a dark one. In truth, he was beginning to feel that something else

proceed to adopt a baby."

blunt and surprising remark that came from the one who held the infant. Bansemer felt himself getting angry.

"Who wants to adopt it?" he asked shortly.

"I do, of course," she answered, so readily that the lawyer stared. He scanned her from head to foot critically; her face reddened perceptibly. It surprised him to find that she was more than merely good looking. She was positively attractive!

"Are you a married woman?" he demanded.

"Yes," she answered, with a furtive glance at her companion. "This is my sister," she added.

"I see. Where is your husband?"

"He is at home, or, rather, at his mother's home. We are living there now."

"I thought you said you were a governess?"

"That doesn't prevent me from having a home, does it?" she explained easily. "I'm not a nurse, you know."

"This isn't your child, then?" he asked impatiently.

"I don't know whose child it is,"
There was a new softness in her voice that made him look hard at her while she passed a hand tenderly over the sleeping babe. "She comes from a foundlings' home, sir."

"You cannot adopt a child unless supported by some authority," he said.
"How does she happen to be in your possession, and what papers have you from the foundlings' home to show that the authorities are willing that you should have her? There is a lot of red tape about such matters, madam."

"I thought perhaps you could manage it for me, Mr. Bansemer," she said plaintively. "They say you never fail at anything you undertake." He was not sure there was a compliment in her remark, so he treated it with indifference.

"I'm afraid I can't help you," The tone was final.

"Can't you tell me how I'll have to proceed? I must adopt the child, sir, one way or another." Her manner was more subdued, and there was a touch of supplication in her voice.

The Victim of Drink

Needs Urrine Treatment

Drink first destroys ambition;
breaks up ties of friendship; it kills and buries hope and eventually destroys the family life.

Some of the best men in the world have been victims of drink and if there is not some member in your family that is afflicted with this disease, you are indeed fortunate.

Drink cunningly destroys the will power, and while the drunkard wants to do what you tell him, he wants a thousand times more the drink that he craves.

Drunkness is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.
The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Urrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Urrine is in two forms. When desiring to give secretly, purchase Ur-rine No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Ur-rine No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Ur-rine costs but $1 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. Write for free treatise on "Drunkness," mailed in sealed envelope by The Urrine Co., Washington, D. C., and in this city by People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.
